In the interest of full disclosure, several weeks ago the technical contact told me he met Erik Baptist at GlobalChem and he asked me if calling Erik might help get RAD to review the study that the company had submitted back in November. I suggested that he not contact Erik, and [REDACTED] flagged this one as "hair on fire" and RAD reviewed the study. I had told the technical contact that review of the study will be complete this week. [REDACTED] told me this morning that he will have completed review and update of the health report this afternoon. So, it's all good.

I understand that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] are calling company today and that the company really didn't intend to call Administrator.
